

DANNY GREEN

BIOGRAPHY

Danny's background in healthcare is a story of facilitating change. From multi-specialty physician groups to integrated health systems, he has successfully transitioned healthcare operations through mergers, staff transitions, physician changes and patient-relations challenges while consistently maintaining high levels of patient satisfaction. Throughout his experiences, he has mastered the skill of Key Words at Key Times; Difficult Conversations; and effectively dealing with staff along the spectrum of highmiddlelow® performance.

He has been with Studer Group for six years and has worked with partners across all levels of engagement to help deliver tools and resources to drive bottom line results. Having earned his Bachelor of Arts in Health Care Management from the University of Alabama, a Masters of Business Administration and Masters of Health Administration from the University of Alabama at Birmingham, Danny is more than equipped to deal with the challenges that come with today's ever-changing healthcare market. He is proud to be a part of Studer Group and has great pride in the difference they continue to make in healthcare.

Danny brings his passion and enthusiasm with him to Studer Group in his role as a coach helping to lead the charge in making healthcare a better place for employees to work, physicians to practice medicine and patients to receive care.

EDUCATION

University of Alabama at Birmingham

Master of Business Administration

Master of Health Administration

University of Alabama

Bachelor of Arts in Health Care Management